The contest for sheriff seems to be the most lively. There are more candidates for the shoes of William McQueen than would be required to repair Hades for 5,280 feet. But there isn't as many by one as there "used to was." George Oisen is retired. George's chances were good at one time. Doxey was going to nominate him and every one knows Doxey. He was going to press George as a labor candidate; refer to his connection with the Amalgamated Associanection with the Amalgamated Associa

THE SELECTMAN.

The position of county selectman seems to be one of profit, if one may judge by the scramble that is being made for it. Here in the city our own Joseph Morris, of course, is a candidate. The joint building is his record, so they say. Bruce Johnson is reported to have a yearning to warm a chair in the new building, but this is denied. He is not considered an eligible candidate by but this is denied. He is not considered an eligible candidate by the members of his party, not on account of his color, but because no man who has ever had his pet purp torn from his arms would vote for the party doing the tearing. Harry McDonald, of Big Cottonwood, wants to represent the farmers of the county, as does Vincent Shurtliff and old man Timmons, of Mill Creek, while John P. Cahoon has anounced his intention of succeeding himself if it takes every bunch of shingles in the lumber yard.

This is the builletin of Republican candidates up to date. The others will be announced later on.

City Hall Furniture

The Herald says that the furniture in the mayor's office, in the county and city building, is a sort of a poem—that it is of antique oak, of the style prevailing in the days of Queen Anne; and that the fireplace is on the plan used in the casties of the noblity in the 15th century. It is understood, that these were not selected because of any idea and the discovery was made that they were in accord with any of our present governmental methods; there was no intention, it seems, to imply that the mayor was in any sense of the word, behind the times, because such an inference would be unfair, unjust and ungenerous. However, it is to be hoped that these furnishings will not operate to influence the future mayors of Sait Leke city away from the most approved modern methods. At last a market has been reestablished for land in Salt Lake city. This is the best news the people have had for a long time. In very few cities can buyers be found, no matter if the property is cheap. In but few cities is there any movement from surrounding communities towards such cities as residence centers.

The great advantage possessed by Salt Lake as a health resort, educational center and general good place, are going to keep it before the people of the west. Great advantages can be secured if a good effort is made to place the real advantages of the place before the people of the middle west who are looking for new locations. The people live much in public, and the poorer classes, instead of eating their meals at home, as is the manner of the unsociable Hindu, seem usually to break-fast and dine at one of the litherant fast and dine at one of the litinerant cookshops to be found at every street corner. More exclusive people may be seen buying the small packets of curry and rice wrapped in fresh plantain leaves, and pinned with bamboo splinters, which are intended for home consumption.

To stroll down a village street and watch the culinary operations in progress at wayside eating shops was an unfailing source of amusement; and very clean and appetizing they looked, though the smell was occasionally somewhat trying to the European nose. The Javans, like all rice-eating people, are fond of pungent and evil-smelling sauces, and equivalents of the Burman gnapee and Japanese bean soy are in constant requisition.
